

Inaugural Editorial - Journal of Nutritional Medicine and Diet Care

Basil Aboul-Enein***

School of Health Sciences, University of South Dakota, USA

*Corresponding author: Dr. Basil Aboul-Enein, MSc., MPH., MA., DHEd., FRSPH, School of Health Sciences, University of South Dakota, 414 E Clark St. Vermillion, SD 57069, USA, E-mail: Basil.AboulEnein@usd.edu

It is with profound pleasure that I welcome readers, reviewers, editors, and authors to this inaugural issue of the Journal of Nutritional Medicine and Diet Care (JNMDC). The Journal of Nutritional Medicine and Diet Care is an open access, peer reviewed, scientific journal that provides rapid dissemination of research in all areas of human and animal nutrition, dietetic practice and public health nutrition, dietary interventions, nutrigenomics, molecular nutrition, and other related topics of interest. We recognize that the success of this journal will depend on the scientific merit and quality of manuscripts that are published therein. Therefore, we aim to publish original research, reviews, case reports, commentaries, short communications, and other types of submission of high caliber to maintain a standard of professional integrity in assessment and publication. The Journal of Nutritional Medicine and Diet Care has appointed an editorial board of prominent and reputable members well versed in their fields who are prepared to commit their effort and intellect to this end. With your support, we can build a highly impactful journal of excellence to serve the research community towards the ultimate outcome of improving lives for years to come. I wish to close this inaugural editorial by cordially inviting you to consider this journal as an outlet for your scientific endeavors. On behalf of the editorial board, we thank you in advance for your support as readers, reviewers, editors, authors, and information users.